For the Big Balloon
Race at Columbus
Driving Park

WILL BE SIX STARTERS

Estimated That 150,000
People Will Witness Start

First Racer Will Leave the Grounds at 4 O'clock—Pilots' Dinner Tonight.

Columbus, O., Aug. 28.—Weather forecast for balloon race: "Saturday fair; light to fresh east to southeast winds." The forecast of winds, if fulfilled, means the balloons will start in a westerly direction. If the upper currents are similar, the balloons will be carried to the west, which is desirable. It has been stated that the chances are two in three that the balloons will go to the east.

Pilots of the six balloons which are scheduled to start in the balloon race from the Columbus Driving Park to-morrow afternoon will arrive in Columbus today, and will be present at the pilots' dinner to be given in the driving park this evening.

Many of the members of the various aero clubs of the country, owners and pilots of balloons other than those entered in the race and people interested in the sport also will come to the city, and by tonight Columbus will occupy the center of the stage in the aerial interests of the country.

Director W. H. Pickens last night announced positively that only six balloons would start. He said: "You are not equipped here to get more than six away. The largest number ever started in a race was nine, so I think we will be doing pretty well to get six off in the first race given in this city. You must remember it takes a lot of gas for those six balloons."

The official program was announced last night. It gives the six entries, owners, pilots and assistant pilots and the order in which they start. The first balloon will leave the driving park at 4 o'clock; the others every 15 minutes thereafter, until all are away on the race, but it may be found possible to shorten the intervals.

The order in which they start follows:

Iroquois—Owner, Henry Pirrung; pilot, Colonel A. P. Shirley; assistant pilot, Lieutenant J. J. Meade, U. S. A.

King Edward—Owner, Aero Club of Canada; pilot, Lieutenant John Bennett; assistant pilot, Tom L. Sample, Columbus.

Stars and Stripes—Owner and pilot, C. H. Perrigo; assistant pilot, Clyde Tuttle, Columbus.

Queen Louise—Owner, Lewis Strang; pilots, Horace Wild and Lewis Strang.

Ville de Dieppe—Owner, Paul Lucier of Dieppe, France; pilot, Captain Augusto E. Mueller; assistant pilot, Captain Paul Mason of the Ohio State Journal.

Chicago de Luxe—Owned and piloted by Colonel Charles Andrew Coey; assistant pilot, George L. Bumbaugh.

The construction work, getting the park in shape, filling and starting the balloons, was progressing nicely yesterday. Director Pickens said.

ONLY FINED FIVE MILLIONS BY CASTRO

Caracas, Venezuela, Monday, Aug. 24.—Via Port of Spain, Trinidad, Aug. 28.—The civil court of first instance handed down a judgment, declaring the French Cable company guilty of complicity in the Maton revolution against President Castro and condemning it to pay damages to the amount of nearly $5,000,000. In addition to this, the company must pay a was on the ground to see that everything was done right.

He estimated last night, taking the interest being manifested in the races as a basis for calculation, that 150,000 people will witness the start of the balloons tomorrow afternoon. One of the picturesque features of the program will be the pilots' parade at 2:30 o'clock. There will be at least 100 men, pilots and owners of balloons in the parade around the mile track.

The six balloons will require 470,000 cubic feet of gas, which will cost the club 75 cents per 1000 cubic feet.

The pilots' dinner at 7:30 o'clock this evening will be the most unique affair of the kind ever given in connection with the sport of ballooning. The tables will be laid beneath the grandstand at the driving park, which forms a great outdoor dining room, ideal in every respect for the dinner.

The invitations and menu have been printed on balloon silk. The dinner is tendered by the Aero club of Columbus, to the visiting pilots and officers of the Federation of American Aero clubs.

SWEATBOX

WAS USED FREELY IN EXAMINATION OF EMPLOYEES OF CHICAGO SUB-TREASURY.

Believed That the Solution of the Theft of $173,000 is Drawing Very Near.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Every employee of the United States sub-treasury in the federal building was subjected to a "sweat box" examination and is believed there has been secured important evidence that will solve the mystery of the $173,000 robbery, for which George W. Fitzgerald, former teller, was arrested Sunday.

The examination was conducted by Assistant State's Attorney Popham, under the direct orders of Sub-treasurer Boldenweck.

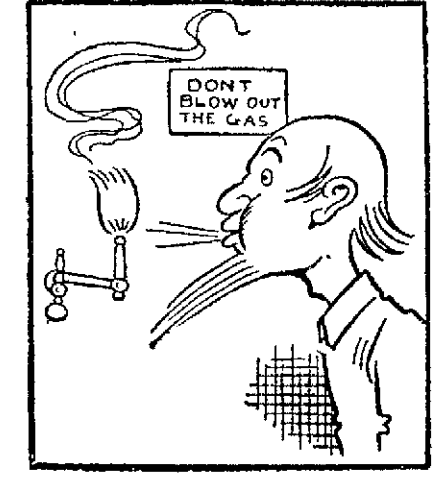

Information that one of the employees was implicated in the gigantic theft, was received early in the week by Boldenweck. The examination was conducted with great secrecy, none of the employees being notified in advance that he was going to undergo a grilling. One by one, they were called into the private office of Boldenweck and introduced to Popham. The prosecutor took off his coat, rolled up his sleeves, and put them through the third degree.

GOOD NEWS

Is the Only Kind Which Czar Will Allow St. Petersburg Agency to Send Out.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 28.—Alarmed at newspaper prominence at home and abroad, given to the stories of Russian discontent, plots and executions, the Czar today asked the St. Petersburg telegraph agency, the only channel through which such news could reach the public, to stop giving out such stories. The Czar wants only stories of property and general optimism supplied in the future.

BANK

Guaranty Deposits
Upheled by Mr.
Bryan

ADDRESS AT TOPEKA

Answers Objections Made by Candidate Taft and Others

Kansas Banks Favor Guaranty
Law—Oklahoma Institutions
Apply for Charter.

Topeka, Kans., Aug. 28.—Before an audience which filled the Auditorium to overflowing, W. J. Bryan, Democratic candidate for president last night spoke on the subject of guaranty of bank deposits. Previously he had delivered three other addresses, two from the veranda of the hotel and the third at Garfield park, where he attended a picnic by the Knights of Pythias, his latter theme being "Fraternity."

The Democratic candidate and his party arrived here at 1 o'clock and were at once taken in hand by a reception committee composed of leading Democrats of the city and state. A great crowd greeted Mr. Bryan at the station and at the hotel.

As announced by him before his departure from Kansas City, Mr. Bryan, in view of the action of the Kansas Republican state convention, which indorsed the guaranty of deposits, made some remarks supplementary to his prepared speech on that subject. He took up the advantages of the guaranty system and then answered the objections made to it by Mr. Taft and others. He began by asking why the depositors should be left unsecured when the national government demanded security of any bank with which it deposited money. He pointed out that the choice was between the postal savings bank and the guaranty bank, and accused Mr. Taft of favoring an unnecessary extension of the sphere of government in advocating the postal savings bank instead of the guaranty bank. Mr. Bryan declared he preferred the guaranty bank proposition, which would allow the banks to attend to the banking business and yet compel them to give their depositors necessary security.

Upon the conclusion of his speech Mr. Bryan said:

"I asked Mr. Breidenbach, a banker of Kansas City, to make inquiry among the bankers of Kansas and ascertain what proportion of them favored the guaranty law. I learned that of the banks that had expressed themselves on this subject, about three-fourths of them favored a guaranty law and one-fourth opposed it. That is an excellent showing. Among the depositors there is no opposition at all and it is evident that the Kansas bankers recognize, first, that something must be done, and second, that the guaranteed bank is better than the postal savings bank."

"I also inquired of Governor Haskell in regard to the number of national banks which have surrendered their charters and become state banks in order to have the benefits of the guaranty system. I have a telegram from him saying that four national banks have already made the change and are operating under the state bank laws and that 16 other national banks have applied for state charters."

"This is conclusive proof that the Oklahoma law is a success. A national charter is supposed to have some advantages over a state charter, and the benefits of the guaranty law must be admitted, when 20 national banks will in a short time, change from the national system to the state system in order to give their depositors the advantages furnished by the guaranty system."

FIRE WASHER TO BURN HOUSE.

West Liberty, Aug. 28.—When Mrs. George Holdren went to a back porch to get her washing machine to do the family washing she discovered that during the night some person had built a fire in the machine, which stood against the house, intending, no doubt, to destroy the building and, possibly, fatally burn the occupants.

ARTIST AND WIFE BEATER SEEKING "AFFINITY" AND "SOUL MATE"

FERDINAND P. EARLE.

MRS. FERDINAND P. EARLE.

Monroe, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Artist Ferdinand Pinney Earle and Mrs. Earle, with their young child, are again united at "Affinity Hill." It is rumored that Mrs. Earle's mother is soon to join her daughter and the neighborhood is wondering what effect the "soul mate" mother-in-law will have. It is generally believed the reconciliation will cause the cast against Earle to be dropped.

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 28.—After spending two sleepless nights in the jail on a charge of beating his wife, Ferdinand Pinney Earle, he of "affinity" and "soul mate" fame, was released on furnishing $2,000 bond. Immediately upon leaving the jail, he began a search for his wife, Mrs. Julia Kuttner Earle, whom he married, inducing his first wife to go to France and get a divorce from him.

Earle was surrounded by newspaper correspondents the moment he stepped from the jail, but he stopped only long enough to say:

"I am going to find my wife no matter where she is. I know that it I can talk with her for 10 minutes she will forgive me and everything will be all right again. This whole trouble has been twisted and I have been misrepresented. I must hurry to find my wife."

Then Earle hired an automobile and went to his home at Monroe, where he changed his linen and put on fresh clothing, remarking to the chauffeur that he wanted to look presentable when he found his wife. Afterward he drove by auto to Tuxedo to catch a train for New York.

Earle said that he did not know where his wife was staying but believed she was with her mother. He was in a high state of excitement and said the two days in jail has unsettled his nerves. At Tuxedo all trace of Earle was lost.

Marcum, assassinated here four years ago.

Hurst stated that he had heard many expressions from the people generally as to the case. When he was asked by Mr. Byrd, attorney for the prosecution, what these expressions were, counsel for the defense objected to what Senator Bradley termed Mr. Byrd's "effort to ask a blanket question sufficient to cover the face of the earth."

When counsel subsided, Judge Adams ruled that the filing of the application by the commonwealth would authorize the court to transfer the case unless objection was made, but that the mere objection was sufficient to put the burden of proof on the commonwealth. Adjourning hour had arrived while the attorneys were arguing the point, and the examination of Hurst will be resumed today.

It now seems less likely that the trial proper will be reached and completed at the present time.

Public sentiment generally is against removal of the case to another county. This is principally because of the expense which the widowed mother would be put to for traveling expenses of witnesses. Others say that Hargis should be tried on the scene of his crime.

BLACKMAIL PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

Was Court-martialed and Gets Light
Sentence of Six Days' Imprisonment for Offense.

Bordeaux, Aug. 28.—An extraordinary story was told at the court-martial yesterday of a member of the military ambulance corps, Camille Marquet, charged with attempting to blackmail President Roosevelt.

Marquet wrote to the President on January 9, demanding "on account of services rendered during the presidential election," and promising further "immense help."

Receiving no reply to this demand Marquet wrote again on March 9, threatening a "scandal" which will cast dishonor upon the family unless the money is forthcoming at a fixed date. He added: "The latest news are no longer set on their shoulders, look at Portugal!"

The President handed the letters to the French consul general and the result resulted. The court sentenced Marquet to six days' imprisonment, giving him the benefit of the first offense law.

PARROT ROUTS THIEF

Bellefontaine, Aug. 28.—"Stop thief," squawked an Australian parrot when a thief snatched it from its perch at the Fred Steig home. The bird raised such a racket that it was released and the thief was compelled to make strenuous efforts to avoid being captured.

MYSTERIOUS WITNESS NAMED IN HAINS CASE

New York, Aug. 28.—Captain Hains, who killed William E. Annis, on August 15, his brother, T. Jenkins Hains, author, were bound over to the grand jury today without bail by Magistrate Gilroy in the Long Island City police court.

New York, Aug. 28.—The name of the hitherto mysterious witness who had represented himself as ready to testify to having heard William E. Annis boast of his conquest of Mrs. Peter C. Hains, wife of Captain Hains, was revealed last night after a conference between Hains and the lawyers retained to defend his two sons, Captain Peter Convey Hains Jr., and Thornton Jenkins Hains, now awaiting trial on the charge of murdering Annis on August 15. He is C. A. Curtis of Princeton, N. J., and Washington, D. C.

General Hains made public the following letter written to him by Mr. Curtis on August 18, from Princeton:

"Allow me to offer to you and to your family my deepest sympathy in all your trouble and to offer any assistance in my power. Apologies of this letter, I beg to say that I have heard Mr. Annis making boasts as to his relations with your son's wife on two different occasions in clubs of New York and once on a yacht near New York. Kindly keep all I have written from all except your attorneys and family, as I dislike notoriety. If, however, it becomes necessary, I will, of course, testify to all pertinent facts in your son's defense. I hope, however, that this will not be necessary."

The general also made public the fact that he two colored maids whom Mrs. Hains had had in her employ during her husband's absence in the Philippines would be called as witnesses for the defense.

The correspondence between the general and Mr. Curtis culminated in an interview at the Hotel Martineau at which Mr. Curtis identified himself as a lawyer and former officer of volunteers descended from a military family. Mr. Curtis claimed that his mother was a daughter of General Rodman, formerly chief of ordnance of the United States army, and inventor of the Rodman rifle.

CHANGE OF VENUE SOUGHT IN BEECH HARGIS TRIAL

Jackson, Ky., Aug. 28.—The time of the Breathitt Circuit court in the steps preliminary to the trial of Beech Hargis was taken up with hearing of testimony in support of the motion by the commonwealth side for change of venue to another county. This was not completed upon adjournment yesterday and was resumed and will be completed today.

It is rumored here that a pardon for Hargis will be sought without awaiting the outcome of the trial. A defense attorney, reported to be very close to Governor Willson, left yesterday for Frankfort. No confirmation of the report could be obtained from his relatives or attorneys.

The petition asking change of venue, when taken, was accompanied by three affidavits. The affiants were A. B. Edwards, merchant; Tom Hood, merchant; and Daniel McInosh, farmer, and each recited that with the power and influence of the relatives of the defendant the Commonwealth cannot obtain a fair trial in Breathitt county.

The relatives particularly mentioned were Floyd, William and John Day, uncles of the defendant, and who have many people in their employ. The influence of Dr. W. P. Hogg, defendant's brother-in-law, is also relied upon as a ground for transfer.

After argument by defense counsel the court permitted the affidavits to be made part of the record. The Commonwealth offered the oral testimony of a number of witnesses, among them Henry Hurst, Assistant Postmaster, and a brother of the widow of J. B.

SHAH MAY YIELD CROWN

Uprisings Have Been Encouraged All Over

Disaffection Sweeping Shah's
Army and Government Officials are Deserting Their Posts.

Teheran, Aug. 28.—The seed of revolution sown in Tabriz is bearing bloody fruit all over Persia and today Shah Ali Marzi faces the alternative of convoking parliament in accordance with his promise, or yielding the crown.

Inability to crush out the rebellion of the constitutionalists in Tabriz, which raged intermittently for months, has encouraged uprisings all over the country and today Isfahan, Kerman, Laistan and practically the whole of Persian Kurdistan are aflame with revolt, with the Shah powerless to stop the onward sweep. The reported capture of Kerman, a city of 50,000, by the revolutionists, is confirmed.

Dispatches tell of a crushing defeat of the Shah's forces in battle in which thousands were killed and wounded.

Kazin Khan, leader of the constitutionalists at Kerman, has set up an independent government and will ignore the Shah's authority until parliament is reconvened. In many respects, the Persian situation parallels the uprising in Turkey which resulted in the grant of a constitution from the Sultan. Disaffection is sweeping the Shah's army, and government officials, alarmed at the strength of the revolutionists are either deserting their posts or are in connivance with the insurgents.

FLOODS

THROUGHOUT GEORGIA AND THE CAROLINAS ARE RECEIVING TODAY.

Greatest Loss Will be in the Rural Districts, Where Crops are Badly Damaged.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 28.—Receding floods throughout Georgia and Carolinas today, reveal more fully the damage done. Reports are coming in from all parts of the affected territory. The loss of life is not yet fully determined, and will not be so great as first believed.

The property loss in Augusta is estimated at $1,000,000. The greatest loss was in the rural districts. Partial reports from the farming sections show that crops were damaged in all parts of the state, and in river valleys they are totally destroyed.

New York, Aug. 28.—Speculation is rife today as to just who are the men behind the syndicate which purposes buying the Tribune from Whitelaw Reid, the present owner. It has leaked out that the third offer for the paper within a year had been made. It is understood the price offered is about $2,000,000. It is rumored that the membership of the commission who made the offers for the Tribune are men of money opposed to the Roosevelt policies and Roosevelt administration.

ODD FELLOWS ENJOY PICNIC.

Fate and the ...Seashell.

By INA WRIGHT HANSON.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

Just before the lunch hour there had been great excitement around the casino at Santa Cruz. Jeannette Washburn had been last of the bathers to leave the surf and in her usual reckless manner had started to swim to the raft after she was tired enough to leave the water. She made the raft all right, but halfway back she went under.

Patricia, on the pleasure pier, had given the alarm, and two men put out in a boat. Before they bore their dripping burden up the pier steps a crowd had gathered from all directions. The beach policeman had come running to press them back and allow the men to hurry through with the half-drowned girl.

Then the crowd dispersed, except Patricia, who had given the alarm. When one walks always with a crutch it is better not to walk in a crowd. So she waited till the pier was deserted and she had found that Jeannette would recover. Then she went home.

Usually Patricia's slow steps were not wearisome to her, for the beauty of the hills kept her company, the flowers along the way were her friends, and the voice of the ocean said to her many things, but today she saw neither hills nor flowers, and she heard nothing but her own heart's cry, "Ernest Wentworth loves Jeannette!"

She had heard it yesterday, and a glimpse of his white face in the crowd today, confirmed the rumor that he was going to marry Jeannette Washburn. She had said it over and over in the night watches, waging war with her own eager heart and telling it to be ashamed for giving its love, unasked.

When she saw Jeannette near to drowning she was wild to plunge in and swim out to her and save her, and not for Jeannette's own sake.

Even in her impulse she recognized her motive—not for Jeannette's sake, but for his. She would make the supreme sacrifice of her unrequited love, and she would do a heroic deed because of it. But even this was denied her.

"Everything is denied a cripple," she thought with unvoiced bitterness as she reached her father's gate. "If I were like other girls he might have chosen me!"

Late in the afternoon, in the brief hours between dinner and the gay life of the evening, when she knew the casino would be almost deserted, she went back to sit on the steps and look silently seaward.

Away to the horizon were fishing boats and a pleasure yacht, its white sails gleaming silver in the sun. Nearer the shore showed the dark bulk of the buoy, and nearer still the sea birds diving and dipping.

All this was on the sea. On the sand was a lone figure, a woman in a faded green dress, its skirts held ungracefully up from the help as she walked the damp sands gathering seashells.

Patricia, watching her dreadingly, saw her pick up one, look at it carefully, then put it in her jacket pocket. The next she threw away, perhaps because of flaw or break or lack of luster.

"Dreaming?" said a voice very pleasant to Patricia's ears, and Wentworth sat down beside her.

"It only made it the harder to have him kind to her. Did a crumb ever do a particle of good when one was starving for the whole loaf? Poor Patricia! Still, as he was there, and as he was not saying anything more, she must make talk. Any kind of talk was better than silence, so she spoke of what she had been thinking."

"Wonder is fate," she pointed to the shell gazer. "Choosing, rejecting; blessing, cursing. Oh, poor little thrown away shells!"

She had tried to make her words sound light, but the man heard the note of pain. He bent toward her, and his voice was very kind.

"I have known you a year," he said. "and I never saw you morbid before. But you are morbid now. You are tired. The excitement this morning was too much for you."

"Yes," she acknowledged. "I was on the pleasure pier when Jeannette went down. I had a wild desire to plunge in and save her and have my picture in the paper afterward. I wanted to be the star of the matinee, you see, and this creation of board and pad would not let me."

She smiled whimsically down at the crutch and up at him. She was glad he could not read her thoughts. She would be very gay—if he did not stay too long.

Perhaps Wentworth could not read her thoughts, but he could see that her eyes were tired, and he looked at them and at the sweet, sensitive mouth in the way that a lover looks.

"Patricia, I know of a golden country in which lives a golden lady—not golden haired, for her hair is dark as yours, but having a heart of gold and a spirit of tried gold. Her eyes are dark, too—let me see how dark, Patricia."

The caress in his tones made her tremble. He meant only to be kind—if he could have known the anguish—but she raised her eyes obediently to his for an instant and smiled at him. She was a very brave Patricia, this crippled girl.

"Just as dark and beautiful as yours, Patricia. Well, this golden lady would have gone out into the great world to do lots of great things, but circumstances forced her to stay in her own domains. So, instead of being disconsolate because she could not do what she would do, she sang a little song of contentment, and one heart sore and weary with much suffering of mind and body, heard it and sought out the way of peace. Know the little old bed-ridden woman down by the river, Patricia?"

Wentworth smiled at the girl's flashing cheeks and went on: "Then I knew of a boy in this golden country whose body was crippled and whose mind was growing into a very unlovely state because of thwarted ambitions. To him the little lady showed the way into a land of high ideals and earnest endeavors. The boy is a good boy now and will make a great man some day."

"Then there are the children. Generally they are very much in the way when a fellow wants to talk to the golden lady. They bring her burnished poppies and treasures of seaweed. Why? Oh, nothing, only she mends dolls, binds up bruises on soft little hands and—"

Patricia raised her head in protest. It was time of him to praise her, but she could not bear it. She must go.

His hand went out and stayed her, as she would have risen.

"Wait, dear, there is more. One day a man came riding down the country lane, and he saw the golden lady and wanted her. You wouldn't blame a man for craving the sunshine, would you, sweetheart?"

Patricia went white around the lips.

"But I thought you were going to marry Jeannette Washburn!"

"My cousin is going to marry Jeannette Washburn, and I am going to marry you, I hope. Am I, Patricia?"

Pure in the green dress was coming toward them, and Patricia saw that her eyes were very kind. She threw down a shell and, passing them, went up the steps and through the casino.

"Get it for me, please, Ernest," she said.

And when he had given her the shell, iridescent and of pleasing form, but having a cruel break in its dented edge, she touched it lightly to her lips and raised her happy face to her lover.

"Dear, blessed, discarded little shell!" she cried.

Even Freshmen Think.

The people who don't think for themselves are like sheep. The ram jumps over a certain stone in the wall, and all the sheep jump over the same stone. That may be the best place to get over the wall, but whether it is or not the sheep do it just the same. Initiative is a rare quality. Sheep haven't much initiative. To have initiative you must do your own thinking.

At the law school of a big university years ago there occurred a striking example of initiative. One of the professors devised a system for improving the curriculum. He demonstrated that his method would double the efficiency of the instruction. He went over his plans exhaustively with his leading colleagues on the faculty. They all agreed that it was a great idea. Finally there was called a mass meeting of faculty and students for the purpose of presenting and endorsing the new system. The professor described before the meeting the many and great advantages of his scheme. When he sat down, as a matter of form the chairman called for remarks before taking a vote. A first year man whom no one knew got up and began very quietly to point out objections—serious objections. All eyes were turned upon this presumptuous upstart. What did he know about it? Not much, perhaps, but he knew enough to do his own thinking.

When he had finished speaking the new system was voted down, never to be heard of again.—Appleton's Magazine.

Milton and "Paradise Regained."

After some common discourses had passed between us he (Milton) called for a manuscript of his, which, being brought, he delivered to me, bidding me take it home with me and read it at my leisure and when I had done so return it to him with my judgment. When I came home and had set myself to read it I found it was that excellent poem which he entitled "Paradise Lost."

After I had, with the best attention, read it through I made him another visit and returned to him his book. He asked me how I liked it and what I thought of it, which I modestly but freely told him, and after some further discourse about it I pleasantly said to him, "Thou hast said much here of paradise lost, but what hast thou to say of paradise found?"

He made no answer, but sat some time in a muse, then broke off that discourse and fell upon another subject, so when "Paradise Regained" was written Milton said in a pleasant tone, "That is owing to you, for you put it into my head by the question you put to me at Chalfont, which before I had not thought of."—History of Thomas Ellwood.

The Mathematical Mind.

A literary worker who wished to do a large amount of reading by proxy advertised for an assistant capable of digesting the contents of a tremendous quantity of books in a very short while. While weighing each applicant's qualifications for rapid assimilative reading he inquired carefully into his mathematical attainments.

He finally chose the man who was most skillful at untangling arithmetical problems. "On the surface that seems an unnecessary accomplishment in this case," he said, "but experience has taught me that anybody who is expert in figures can read any kind of literature put before him with greater accuracy and speed than the person lacking in mathematical acumen."—New York Times.

AMUSEMENTS

AT AUDITORIUM.

The Auditorium was packed to the doors last night to witness the first appearance of Miss Theresa Jacob, the sweet singer in a church gown.

The handsome little lady appeared for her first time in the dress which has been given such publicity in the past few weeks. The spot light was thrown upon her as she rendered "The Glow Worm," which has been making a great European hit. She followed with a number of selections and closed with "The Last Rose of Summer," which she sang to special request.

It would be hard for a novice to describe the gown worn by Miss Jacob. It was a pale, yellow liberty satin, with a pretty carriage and the light side was slit as far as the knee. It was held together, however, by pink cords, but this did not prevent a pretty ankle peeping forth occasionally. Miss Jacob stated that it was not a comfortable dress for walking purposes, and that she would prefer the regular street costume. She thought it might be worn to better advantage in the ball room or at receptions, for was of the opinion that it would become very popular.

The dress will be worn again tonight and new songs will be added to the sweet singer's repertoire.

The pictures were all changed and were of a high order. They are among the best ever shown in this city and you will miss a rare treat if you fail to see them.

AT THE GRAND.

The bill at the Grand this week has been attracting large crowds. Bert Saunders, the German comedian, has been bringing forth much of a lively pace with a good line of live comedy, while Marzono, the mechanical wonder, continues to puzzle the audience. This evening Marzono will be exposed and the arguments and discussions it has brought forth will be ended. The illustrated song, "The Waltz Must Change to a March, Charlie," is being sung with good effect by Mr. Charles Shuckhart.

IDELEWILDE CASINO.

"Have you seen the Nancy Boyer company at Idlewild park? It's the best ever." Such are the comments heard everywhere from the crowds that have visited the park to see clever Nancy Boyer and her versatile players. Arthur Chatterden's appearance is always a signal for an outburst of applause from the park audiences, who love to witness a manly hero, while Jack Warburton has firmly established himself as one of Newark's favorite comedians. The company remains another week putting on Sunday matinee and night, "Wild in Name Only."

The rank growth of weeds in the streets and gutters is being removed as fast as possible by the city employees who are working at present in the south end of the city. Preserving Split Trees.

There have been many instances in different towns of street trees, long left unpruned, splitting away in large divisions from the trunk proper. Various devices have been used to remedy the trouble, but wire wrapping and banding have been most common. These are the poorest methods possible to use, says the Los Angeles Times. The parts should be pulled together and a bolt put through having a very large head at one end and an equally large washer at the other. Both head and washer should be countersunk to the wood, so that the bark may grow over head and bur and completely hide the disfigurement. Such a method is safest and best.

Sour Cream Filling.

Whip very sour cream until stiff. Add a cupful and a half of English walnuts or hickory nuts chopped to a powder, sweetened to taste and flavor lightly with vanilla. This is extremely nice and, moreover, a novelty.

SLAVES TO GOOD HABITS.

They Never Know the Freedom of the So Called Wrong Way.

One of the essentials to a healthy life is habit. By doing necessary things with regularity we are spared the friction of haphazard. But those persons are real slaves to their little, good habits who fear to move out of the ruts once in awhile. They never know the glorious freedom of doing everything the so called wrong way. Because they are accustomed to rising at 7 o'clock they are upset for the entire day if by some chance they are aroused at 6.

It may be that an expedition has been arranged for a certain hour. The slaves of little, good habits keep the entire company waiting because a hair-pin must be fixed in the usual way. It would be a sin in this slavish creed to go without that hairpin just once.

"I never leave the house without trying all the doors," said the woman who made her friends miss the last car downtown before the hour appointed for the meeting. When she returned home she found that the pantry window had been broken and her best preserves taken away. Retribution does not always come so speedily to the slaves of little, good habits, but they experience a negative punishment in the good things of life they miss.

Besides being an indication of age, the slavery to little, good habits is a chief of happiness. It robs us of many pleasures. We miss the opening door because we never can leave the house until we have put the cat in the cellar. Once, just once, left in the kitchen, he might jump on the table, but shall we experience more regret at having to wash an extra tablecloth than at losing the first number on the programme we wanted especially to hear?

It occasions more worry to some people to do anything the least bit unusual than others feel for the loss of a small fortune. If unexpected guests arrive on an afternoon when there is the regular weekly mending to do they are made to feel unwelcome, though beloved. What has always been done on Wednesday must continue to be performed on that day is a rule of life that some women would not willingly break for anything.

Slaves of habit are pitiable creatures if the habits are bad. Slaves of little, good habits are bores, to say the least.

The things that come to those who wait are often the things no one else wants.

You can generally tell if a man is fond of cabbage by smoking his cigars.

GUARANTY OF BANK DEPOSITS A VITAL CAMPAIGN ISSUE

The Presidential candidates are drawing the line on the issue of guaranty bank deposits. Taft has assailed the proposition of securing depositors in banks from loss and Bryan is a strong advocate of the plan of security and safety. The question promises to become a more prominent and important issue of the campaign than was contemplated when the national conventions of the parties were held.

The monopolistic interests of course, are on the side of Taft and he is doing their bidding in the stand he has taken in opposition to the guaranty of deposits. But the people, especially the large class of business men of moderate means, will line up on the side of Mr. Bryan. The line should be drawn distinctly, so that there may be no dodging or side-tracking the issue and so that the people may decide this vital question by their ballots at the coming election. It is one that the people should decide.

The national Republican campaigners are acting in a manner that indicates they are considerably exercised about the early State elections in Maine and Vermont. They are hustling literature and spell-binders into both States for the purpose of keeping up the Republican majorities there, in order to stem the tide of dissatisfaction in other States.

Hives, eczema, itch or salt rheum sets you crazy. Can't bear the touch of your clothing. Doan's Ointment cures the most obstinate cases. Why suffer. All druggists sell it.

HAVE YOU MADE YOUR CONTRIBUTION?

It is not too late to make your contribution to Newark's growing Public Library. Almost all kinds of books are needed, especially books of reference. Everyone should make it their special hobby to help build up one of the best educational institutions of the city.

INJURY TO BUSINESS.

Implement Makers Do Not Profit by the Tariff.

THE EFFECT OF PROTECTION.

Handicaps Industry by Erecting a Tariff Barrier Against Raw Materials—Pennsylvania Manufacturers State Some Pertinent Facts.

Every dealer must study how he may "buy cheap and sell dear," and the tariff comes handily to our aid in selling dear. It holds our customers fast—those in our own country—so that escape is impracticable. All that the manufacturers need do is to reach some gentlemanly understanding among themselves, and selling dear to our fellow citizens is easy enough. This understanding should not be of the nature of a "trust," of course, for the law at present makes that inconvenient, and it is also quite unnecessary, our common interest being a sufficiently strong bond. There would be no motive for forcing or wheedling or buying a tariff through congress if it did not work along these lines. Yet, even in dealing with our appointed victims, enterprising and broad minded manufacturers are feeling the force of another mercantile maxim, "Small profits and quick returns," and have learned to prefer ready sales to a high percentage of profit. They have considerably reduced prices without waiting to be driven by the pressure of competition. They would be glad to make further reductions, but are stopped by the tariff barrier—the cost of raw materials.

The materials most essential in the implement manufacturing business are iron, steel, coal and wood. With regard to wood, the pre-eminence of the United States was uncontroverted half a century ago. Now our supply is so far exhausted that producers are at a decided disadvantage as compared with those to whom the rich stores of Canada are open. Our manufacturers deserve as good a chance as their competitors at the best timber supply in the world, and they ought to have it, whatever reduction it may make in the profits of the stumpage barons of the northwest. With regard to coal, there is little likelihood that Pennsylvania will ever draw much upon a foreign supply, but if our laws are so modified as to leave New England manufacturers at liberty to buy where they can buy best not only will they receive better treatment from the corporations controlling the Appalachian coal product, but we in other sections may share in their good fortune.

The question with regard to iron and steel is briefly and simply, Shall the enormous profits of those who furnish these necessities of manufacture continue to flow into the same pockets, or shall some part be diverted to the pockets of consumers realized by them in the form of cheaper machinery? It is well known to those who have inquired and not denied by the corporation's own officers that it can make pig iron at a cost of from $6 to $7 a ton and can convert this into steel and roll the ingots into steel rails at a total charge of $12 to $13 a ton, so that a price of $14 would bring it a moderate profit, whereas the price it asks is $28. Other costs and prices for its steel and iron products are in similar proportion, with large profits on all firmly secured by our import duty of $4 a ton on pig iron and $6 to $25 on different forms of steel.

It is well known also that the cost of iron and steel making by concerns like this great corporation or Jones & Laughlin, owning their own coal and iron mines and controlling the transportation lines that carry their freight to Pittsburgh, is far less than the least that any English works can show, for when the matter was investigated some years ago by a commission from that country the cost of making a ton of pig iron in Pittsburgh was reported at $7.00, while the best report for Middleborough pig iron was $12.70 a ton. In this report the labor cost at a furnace was set at 2 shillings per ton in Pittsburgh, 3 shillings in Middleborough. Though the daily wage scale is fully 40 per cent higher in Pittsburgh, they seem to manage there to produce double the number of tons with the same number of workmen, so that the labor charge per ton is considerably lower. If British producers cannot compete with Pennsylvania we may rest assured that nobody can. It would be possible to continue in the same line, telling the effect of protecting vegetable oils on the cost of our paints, of protecting the beef trust's hides on the cost of belting for our machinery, of copper protection on the cost of brasswork, and so on. But there is no need to speak of minor matters.

As exporters our interest in a lower tariff is powerfully intensified. Prices are lower in foreign markets, where we must meet manufacturers the world over on equal terms or even sometimes at a disadvantage; hence every item of cost becomes vitally significant, and the higher cost of material, enforced against us by legislative wisdom in Washington, proves a most serious handicap. Seventeen years ago I publicly advocated placing agricultural implements on the free list because their "protection" was less help than injury to the business. With only a dead loss.

BABY FLEET'S LONG TRIP.

Captain Mertz to Take Lightships and Tenders on 14,000 Mile Voyage.
Captain Albert Mertz, U. S. N., has been commissioned by the government to take three lightships and three tenders to San Francisco along practically the same route taken by the United States battleship fleet recently. These are being put in shape for the trip at Tompkinsville, N. Y., and Captain Mertz expects to start not later than Oct. 1.

"I would much rather take the responsibility of leading the fleet on the run of 14,000 miles than this little flotilla," said Captain Mertz to a New York Herald reporter, "for in the former case each ship is able to take care of itself. Not only that, but each is manned by officers and men familiar with the navy signals and fully trained and prepared for emergencies. In this case I will be the only navy officer aboard and will have civil crews and civil masters, numbering 100 men in all, from the merchant service.

"They depend upon the international code and the Coston night signals, which are altogether too slow and will add to my difficulties. I am busy preparing emergency signals and shall have to teach the men how to use them, so we can communicate with each other. The flotilla will be one nautical mile in length.

"One has little idea of how much is necessary to be done in preparing for a cruise of this kind. For instance, a large ship can withstand a storm all right. In a heavy storm I will have to be under sail and drift if I happen to have sea room. Then there is the question of whether each vessel will drift the same distance, and perhaps by morning I will find some one or two of the tenders out of sight."

AUTO SMOKE FOR MOSQUITOES

New Way of Southampton (N. Y.) Car Owners to Worry the Pest.

Chauveurs and the cottagers at Southampton, N. Y., have taken upon themselves the fumigation of mosquitoes by throwing hot clouds of burning cylinder oil as they race about the village in their motor cars. The work of extermination has been carried on with increasing determination during the last few days. The roads are choked with the clouds of smoke that trail behind every car, while the natives who walk sneeze and cough. But the mosquitoes are getting the worst of it.

Old Agawam lake, on which is the residence of Ellhu Root, occupied this season by Nathaniel Holmes; the residences of Colonel Robert M. Thompson, J. P. Robb and that of Stephen Peabody are being freed from the pests. Along Job's lane, at the foot of the lake, run daily the eight cars of Hugh J. Grant, ex-mayor of New York; the four of August Belmont, Jr.; three each for James Parrish and Stephen Peabody and the two of Dr. Maitland Alexander. This is only a partial list, but it indicates that there is a fumigating plant at work all the time. To throw out the clouds of smoke the chauveurs open the cylinder oil feed so that the burning overflow sends out dense, choking smoke as they tear along the roads. In consequence the mosquitoes are leaving.

CLEW TO LOST TREASURE.

Crab Caught Off Florida Coast Had Spanish Doubloon in Its Claws.

J. R. Chard, a wealthy resident of Greenwich, Conn., who has been spending the past month near New Smyrna, Fla., believes he has found the spot where a vast amount of Spanish treasure is located and is now carrying on operations for its recovery.

While fishing a short time ago he landed a huge crab, sticking among the claws of which he found a round corroded piece of metal. Mr. Chard scraped the piece of metal and discovered that it was a Spanish doubloon bearing the date of 1608. Since then he has studied the traditions of the place and has learned that early in the seventeenth century a band of Spanish buccanniers is reputed to have made its headquarters near the place. He is so sure that he is on the track of a great discovery that he has extended his vacation by a month and says he will make a thorough search.

A Mammoth Zoo.

Kansas City has begun work on the first building of a group which when completed will be one of the finest zoological gardens in the United States and will cost $700,000. Five years are allowed for completion. Its most conspicuous feature will be the lion house, which is to be 220 by 200 feet and have accommodations for about seventy lions, tigers, etc. In addition to the housed specimens, there will be a ten acre jungle at the eastern end of Swope park, where within a fence fourteen feet high animals will roam undisturbed in their native wildness so far as their nearness to civilization will permit the illusion.

Work For Elephants.

Vice Consul General Lucien Meminger in a report to the department of labor and commerce predicts as a result of the success of the elephant training farm at Api, in the African Congo, that the beast may in future contribute in no small measure to the solution of the problem of transportation in regions where roads are impracticable.

Paving an Arcadian Road.

A street in Fort Scott, Kan., is being macadamized, and the men who were working at it in the daytime simply couldn't stand the heat, so day work has been given up, and the paving is done by moonlight.

TAFT'S AFTERWORD

An Ohio Minister Criticises His "Common Enterprise" With Bosses.

"I appreciate the opportunity of addressing you, and I wish you to understand that every one of you is a man whom I feel to be in common enterprise with me."

Now, this William Taft, candidate for the exalted office of president, used the above language in the presence of George B. Cox of Cincinnati, Walter Brown of Toledo and C. W. Bieser of Dayton, and in it he declares before the whole state and nation he looks upon them as equals and fellow-workers. And yet, only three short years ago, we hear him denouncing Cox and saying that if he was home in Cincinnati he would feel it his sacred duty as a citizen to vote against the ring, and not only the corrupt ring in Hamilton county, but every other so-called Republican ring in the state. And that, which we may term his honest foreword, did much to elect Mr. Pattison governor. The large majority of the people of Ohio recognized it as the simple truth. They had seen enough for themselves, and Mr. Taft's speech at Akron came when most needed, and the people, believing the president and all honest leaders were backing him, took heart and so voted as to bring about the much-needed change.

But now, "Alas, how have the mighty have fallen." We hear him say these men are good and faithful workers and worthy of all honor in the Republican party. Now, what has brought about this wonderful change in Mr. Taft's opinion? We do think he owes every Republican voter, at least, an explanation. It does not give us any just cause for voting to continue these men in power for him to say: "We will not go into the past, that is all wiped off the slate." What we want to know is why are we supposed to wipe the said corrupt slate clean, and by what right does Mr. Taft take it upon himself to issue bills of health to said gentlemen? Has he found out he was mistaken in his Akron conception of their characters and modes of political work? If he has he should make us acquainted with the fact. He owes it to himself. Without it he can not retain his self-respect, and can hardly hope to retain the respect of thoughtful and self-respecting men. He also owes it to the men he assailed at Akron if they are innocent.

The voters of Ohio would like to know if Messrs. Cox, Brown, etc., are men who can be trusted—men who are worthy of being leaders and managers in the Republican party. Or, if they are still the same in conduct and character, let him inform us by what process of political logic he makes it possible for himself and us to accept them as equals and political brothers.

Does the rise and fall of Mr. Taft's conscience depend upon whether he happens to be running for office or not? And does he imagine he can talk the common people into seeing men and things from his personal point of view? This is one of the questions he must answer. He can not afford to ignore it. Silence here means bad politics. If these men have undergone a political regeneration we demand to know the when and the how. If they haven't then we would like him to tell us how we can, with clear consciences, vote for a man who is not brave enough to say: "Gentlemen, if my election depends upon your favor I am not seeking the office. My manhood and my duty to the truth, as I see it, are worth more to me than anything else."

We are waiting for the answer. We must have it, because we want to vote for the good of our country, and we know it can not mean well for our country and its general interests to elect men who will owe their offices to the maneuverings of such men as Mr. Taft felt it incumbent on him to denounce at Akron. For if they were too corrupt to vote for in state matters, they are too corrupt to have anything to do with national affairs. Or is it possible Mr. Taft imagines it doesn't make much difference what kind of men have the job of making a president? Are we to go on the rule, the higher we go the less care we need take? Or is he so anxious to have the office that he doesn't care? Again we say, Mr. Taft, we are waiting for your answer. You know you didn't touch on it in your speech of acceptance. Why not?

G. O. P. PAPERS PLEASE COPY

As an item showing the prosperity of the times the following is suggested to Republican papers for republication:

"The big Pillsbury flour mills of Minneapolis have gone into the hands of a receiver. One of these has a capacity of 40,000 barrels a day, and there are six mills in all, the companies property being valued at $15,000,000. The profit per barrel is said to be 5 cents, and at this rate the 40,000-barrel mill could make $2,000 a day."

You see there is no full dinner pail, and while the people want flour for bread Republican prosperity (?) does not bring the cash to get it.—Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer.

MANY KILLED IN CLOUDBURST

El Paso, Texas, Aug. 28.—Eleven known dead, and many others are reported to have perished or been injured, as the result of a cloudburst which inundated Folsom, N. M., early today. Many houses were swept away and meager reports say every house was damaged. Many persons living in canyons above the city, through which the floods swept, are believed to be lost. Searching parties are at work.

The annual output of beer in the United States is between 57,000,000 and 60,000,000 barrels.

This Is The Way To Wash

With P. & G. Naphtha Soap. Try it, next washday.

WHITE CLOTHES:—Dip each piece in lukewarm water. Rub soap on the soiled parts and roll up. Pack rolls in a tub and cover with lukewarm (not hot) water. Let them soak half an hour or longer. Fill a tub half full of lukewarm (not hot) water; unroll each piece and rub soiled parts on the washboard, using fresh soap. The dirt will come out with little or no rubbing. Rinse in two warm waters and blue in a third cooler water. Excepting in cases of sickness, clothes need not be boiled. Hang them up to dry in sunshine and fresh air.

Isn't this simpler and easier and better than your present method? And wouldn't it be a good idea to try P. & G. Naphtha Soap and see if it really is as effective as we say it is?

The experiment costs little—a five cent cake is ample for a week's washing.

MAY BUILD ROAD FROM CLAY LICK TO FLINT RIDGE

Survey Made by Engineer Cully—
Ridge is Rich in Mineral Resources.

Indications point to the early development of the mineral resources of Flint Ridge.

During the week Surveyor Fred Cully of Hebron has been running lines about the Ridge and has made a preliminary survey for a railroad leading from Clay Lick to the Ridge, a distance of about six miles. It is said that the road when built will extend two miles farther south to Brownsville, tapping a territory that is now without railway facilities of any kind.

Flint Ridge has a three foot vein of canal coal, and is rich in valuable clay and other materials. The flint itself is valuable for road ballast. Former Newark Postmaster J. M. Ickes has been interested for some time in the development of the proposition and it is said that he is getting affairs in shape to produce results.

The distinguished features of these reunions are the mammoth dinners and social visits. Many remained Thursday for supper that was served from the twelve baskets full that were gathered up from the dinner table. It was decided to hold the next reunion at the old homestead of Adam Seymour east of Newark on the interurban line, the third Thursday in August, 1909, when a suitable biographical and historical program will be rendered.

The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, J. O. Montgomery of Appleton; vice president, George Seymour of Hebron; secretary, O. C. Larason of Newark.

BETRAYED HIS COUSIN

AND ENORMOUS MOB CLAMORS
FOR THE LIFE OF CLAUDE
ANDREWS.

Police With Drawn Clubs and Guns
Rescue Betrayer of the Negro Bandit.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 28.—Claude Andrews, who for money betrayed his cousin, Jesse Coe, negro, murderer of an Indianapolis policeman, into the hands of Sheriff Bryant and deputies in Monroe county, Kk., would have been lynched last night by a mob of 500 blacks had not policemen with drawn clubs and guns arrived.

The mob gathered about the home of Andrews' sister here after it learned how he had betrayed Coe.

Andrews was taken under a heavy guard to a police station for safekeeping. The body of the bandit was viewed by 10,000 men, women and children as it lay in the morgue. The authorities were criticised by many for permitting the crowds to throng in, but Police Judge Phallen and the members of the police department argued that the object lesson was a good one.

The $1,500 reward for the capture of Coe, dead or alive, was paid to Sheriff Bryant by Mayor Bookwalter of this city. The sheriff then handed over to Andrews, cousin of Coe, $600 as his reward for having betrayed the bandit.

Washington, D. the test has been completed and shows that the new weapon is unquestionably of importance. Naval officers recommend that a supply of the weapons be contracted for as soon as expedient.

Meanwhile, however, it is understood that foreign governments are considering the possible purchase of the new projectile. It will be impossible, it is said, for the United States navy to exclude competition, because when the torpedo was first tested its effectiveness caused widespread comment and its design leaked out.

John D. Says Jocular Gentlemen

Denver, Colo., Aug. 28.—The following letter from John D. Rockefeller was read at the Convention of American Press Humorists:

Forest Hill, Cleveland, Aug. 19. Gentlemen:—With the pleasant memories of an official call by the American Press Humorists, I send you my best wishes for a successful convention. The echoes at Forest Hill still laugh, now and then, over the quips sprinkled through our quiet atmosphere by your members. My own success in appropriating those jokes of yours and in passing them off as my own, has made me feel that I am almost entitled to a union card in your order. May you always be able to collect for your witicism on the union scale.

Speaking seriously, as one should to professional humorists, the rest of the world owes you real gratitude and the best of good wishes, gentlemen. You are the true specialists in dyspepsia. Charly is born of a good, hearty, honest laugh. It spreads the kindlier feeling among mankind. I wish you, collectively and individually, all success. I am sorry that I cannot attend your sessions. I hope to receive you again, some day, at my home.

Fraternally yours,

Lancaster 6, Portsmouth 1.

A decided change resulted from the games played yesterday, and the fact was emphasized more than ever that as the season in the Ohio State draws to a close the race become more exciting. True, Lancaster seems to have the pennant clinched, but the race for second place is a hot one and Newark, Mansfield, Lima and Marion are fighting for the place.

By one point Lima passed Marion yesterday, and for the first time since the season opened, the Diggers have been touted out of first or second position and from present indications they are doomed to drop even further down the ladder of percent. The Molders are but thirty-two points behind second place and with the article of ball they have been putting up lately, they should land that coveted position shortly.

The fight between Newark and Mansfield today and tomorrow will be a hard one for Mansfield has the ability to play ball on her home grounds, even though she can't while in Newark, out Ems and his squad are on the bit and will travel at their best possible gait, and with a little luck they should find the Tigers easy picking, but the Goddess has always looked the other way and spread her smiles on the Tigers when Newark was on a League park battle.

The boys left this morning at 7:45 o'clock for Tigertown and after their day of rest yesterday, they are in fine shape, and feel that they can put up some pretty stiff fights for that coveted second place.

More will probably do slab duty in the game today, and if a double header is worked tomorrow and there will probably be one, Kule and Qualley will work in Tom's team in good shape. If Tom Webb who has earned the title of the "Iron Man of the League" will probably go in.

DIGGERS ARE SWAMPED.
Lima, Aug. 28.—A large crowd gathered for the opening game of the season between the Lima and Marion teams, which took place at the Marion grounds and ran up to a score of 13 to 0 in favor of the Lima team.

SPITTER

Must Go From Base Ball Declares the Magicians—Legislation Will be Against It.

Not cleaner in the ordinary sense, as the word is applied to sports. There is not much cheating in the national game, even in the small things which men do in the excitement of the moment, in their intense desire to win. There is no selling of games, no throwing of championships.

Nor do the players of the big leagues seek to injure one another or do anything which is not fair and sportsmanlike, as a rule with few exceptions. In all such tests the greatest of outdoor sports in clean enough. The trouble is physical. It is the spitball and that blot on the game is a nuisance in other ways, also.

Now and then it causes errors in the field. Players make wild throws because the ball is slippery. It is supposed to decrease batting, and there is too little of that, at best. It certainly delays games and sometimes results in wild pitching and passed balls.

All of this is unnecessary. The work of pitchers in the National League is evidence enough of that fact. Drown, Mathewson, Rulbach, Gidycz, Willis, L. Field, Leever, McQuinn, Overhill, Frankie and many others of the best in the entire organization have won the "spitter" in the American League. The work of such pitchers as Donovan, Jose, Killeen, Wayne, A. Brock, Waddell, Haines, Young, Plank, Summers and others of great skill and prestige is evidence enough of the offensiveness of the spitball.

It ought to be knocked out of the game and kept out for good—Cleveland Leader.

WANT GAME.

The Vogel Pop company ball team would like to have a game for either Sunday a. m. or p. m. Rutledge, pitcher on one of the B. & O. club, interested. Phone, new 89 old 12. BENNER, Manager.

YANKEES' WILL HAVE A NEW MANAGER.

STORIES AND CHASE IN COLLISION AT FIRST BASE.

New York, Aug. 28.—Immediately after the second victory of the Yankees over Detroit on the hill on Thursday by 4 to 1, there came the unauthenticated report that Mr. Norman Elberfeld was to be set down as manager of the local talent in favor of George Davis, of the Chicago Americans, who had the report was, been exchanged with "Jiggs" Donahue for Hal Chase.

The story was that Davis would become the Yankee manager, and Donahue on the first base. There appeared to be no knowledge of such a change.

NEW LEAGUE

To Be Found by Clark Griffith—Pittsburgh is Included—Already After Players.

New York, Aug. 28.—Clark Griffith, in conversation with members of the Chicago White Sox team here yesterday, stated that he was organizing a new baseball league for the next season. The location of the league, he said, would be in the middle west. The only town he would name as being in the new league was Pittsburgh, where, he declared, the fans were tired of the Pirates. The other towns, Griffith said, he would keep for a surprise to the baseball world. He added that the new league had ample financial backing. He is already negotiating for players.

LIKES HEN FRUIT

Homer Mock, the Lancaster twirler, is the champion hard-boiled egg eater of the country. He is a man of temperate habits, except when it comes to eating eggs. And, it is nothing for him to go around to a restaurant and order a dozen hard-boiled eggs. He doesn't get drunk on them, but rather, they seem to act like a tonic on him. He carries them around in his pocket and isn't a bit stingy. Mock, who twirls great balls, says he got the habit when he was a kid, eating Easter eggs. He eats them before and after games, in particular.

NO MORE MEETS

New York, Aug. 28.—The Amateur Athletic union of the United States will break off athletic relations with the British Amateur Athletic association because of the spirit of unfairness shown by the haughty Britons toward the American athletes in the Olympic contests. This action will be taken following a small vote. It is "most unanimously in favor of severing connection with the British organization. As soon as Barrow 5 Weeks returns from abroad a meeting will be held and final action taken.

SWAP MADE

Marion, Aug. 28.—Marion Thursday closed a deal with Portsmouth whereby it will get Precher Craig and infielder Dithridge for pitcher Mercer. Dithridge refused to report to Marion this season and recently joined Portsmouth. Craig and Mercer will make the change tomorrow.

VERY TRUE

Miss Alta Voss is said to be a crack pitcher. The only wonder is that there are more girl pitchers. They certainly have more curves than their boys of the opposite sex.—Akron Beacon Journal.

WILMOT DONE

At Wilmot on the Diggers staged after the game yesterday that it was the last he would pitch this season and possibly the last he would ever pitch. Wilmot states that his arm has gone back on him, but he doesn't know whether it will ever be right again. He will leave Marion this week for his home at Chad Fulton.

WEDDINGS

SCOTT-JONES.

The wedding of Miss Grace Jones and Mr. Harry Scott took place on Thursday evening at 5 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Jones of East Main street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Grant Jones, an uncle of the bride, of Hicksville, Ohio. In the presence of about fifty guests. The house was beautifully decorated in golden red and white asters, with a tower of green and white in which the bride stood. At the cutting of the cake, the bride was received by Miss Clara Scott, the bridesmaid by Mrs. Nora Moore, the money by Mrs. Frank Neighbo, and the ring by Mrs. Grant Jones.

The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neighbo of Sharon, Pa.; Miss Laura Scott of Chicago, Mr. Dought Scott, Miss Fannie Scott, Mr. Hubert Scott and Mrs. J. J. STRENUOUS METHODS

OF GOV. FORT HAVE SMOKED OUT ATLANTIC CITY OFFICIALS.

Mayor Story Has Announced That the Excise Laws Will be Strictly Enforced Sunday.

Atlantic City, Aug. 28.—The startling proclamation of Governor Fort, threatening to send troops to Atlantic City was received with great surprise here. Mayor Story and his cabinet, charged with the responsibility for Sunday's widespreadness of Atlantic City, have apparently been smoked out by Governor Fort and his strenuous methods of law enforcement. Mayor Story announces that the excise laws will be strictly enforced Sunday. It is learned that the present troubles were precipitated by saloonkeepers because of a desire to observe an agreement entered into last spring with a committee of business men. The compact made then was that ministers would drop the proposed attack upon hotels and saloons, especially saloons, if the proprietors kept their front doors of saloons closed and showed a disposition to "keep within bounds."

FALLS FROM HORSE AND BREAKS ARM

Distressing Accident to Little Miss Veronica Tarleton While Visiting in the Country.

A distressing accident happened to Miss Veronica Tarleton, aged nine years, at St. Louisville, Thursday afternoon. She fell from a horse that she was attempting to ride and broke her left arm at the elbow. Mrs. Tarleton and the little girl are from Shawnee and have been visiting for a few days at the Frank Imhoof residence on Second street.

Yesterday the mother took the child for a short visit to her brother, Mr. Isaac Weiss, of near St. Louisville. A lad of about the same age as the little girl put her on a horse for a ride, and started the animal off too fast for the child to hold on, and she fell off, breaking her arm as stated above. It is a bad injury and her arm was badly swollen when she was brought to this city for medical assistance. Miss Veronica is a brave, sweet little girl, and when seen by the Advocate reporter, was resting easily and able to talk about her accident. Her father, Mr. Isaac Tarleton, who was formerly a resident here, arrived in the city from Shawnee this morning, having been sent for by his wife. The child and parents are at Mr. Imhoof's, and will stay until the child is able to be taken to her home in Shawnee.
